

OBJECTIVE:

To obtain a full-time reporter / anchor position in a thriving news market that will allow me to utilize my journalism skills and story-telling techniques.

EXPERIENCE:

Internship

WGNO NEWS December 2012 – Present

New Orleans

During my non-paid internship, I worked an average of 24-hours per week; which demonstrates my passion and commitment for journalism. I worked closely with veteran journalists in the city of New Orleans – a city with news that consistently makes national and international headlines.

Unlike most interns who take days, if not weeks to turn a story, I was placed on tight deadlines; and was required daily to write teases, anchor intros, packages, stand-ups and tags before my shift ended. I was actively involved in every aspect of news gathering – from content discussions during editorial meetings -- to developing compelling stories in the field. It was that great internship experience that has prepared me to launch what I hope to be a long journalism career.

EMPLOYMENT:

Chase Bank August 2009 – Present

Sales & Service Assoc.

My experience at Chase Bank has provided me years of communication and customer service-related skills. Because so much of developing stories in the field relies heavily on developing trust, I believe my position at Chase Bank has provided me with the skills and life experience that will prove helpful in the field of journalism.

The fact that I have been able to maintain full-time employment at Chase Bank, and complete challenging internship duties demonstrate my strong work ethics.

SKILLS:

*Public Relations

*Interpersonal Communication

*AP Style Newswriting

*Creative Storytelling

*Objective News Gathering

*Enterprise Story Development

References Available Upon Request